Rizal's T'Boli Project achieves ISO Accreditation

May 11 2020- Vancouver, British Columbia: Rizal Resources Corporation (TSXV: RZL) (“Rizal” or the “Corporation”) Recently Rizal Resources and our TMC T’Boli Gold project invested in achievement of ISO accreditation for our Occupational Health and Safety Management System (OHSMS), Environmental Management System (EMS) and Quality Management system (QMS). This means now that the TMC Tribal Mining Corporation (TMC) holds ISO accreditation under ISO 45001:2018. Safety, ISO 14001:2015, Environment and ISO 9001:2015 Quality.

This is a major step forward for TMC and Rizal, to ensure that our management systems and processes meet international standards. This will further support our efforts to maintain a safe workplace for our people and community, our local environment and our product quality. This achievement required significant investment in time from all of our people and we thank them and the assessors for this special effort.

The Managing Director and CEO of Rizal Resources said, “achieving accreditation for these international standards puts TMC Tribal Mining Corporation into an elite group of mining companies in the Philippines and around the world. Our business processes have been enhanced to deliver at or above these standards every day. We now have a solid foundation for the company as we move forward to achieving gold production”.
